Ozarks Chapter of FFRF

Dear James,

Memorial Day weekend is upon us! The unofficial start of summer comes with some good news, as the Supreme Court this week upheld a lower court's decision that prevents public funds being used towards religious schools. See *St. Isidore of Seville Catholic Virtual School v. Drummond*. This is a big win for the Constitutional principle of separation between church & state, and hats off to Americans United for Separation Between Church & State who led the legal fight on this matter (and will be meeting with our Chapter later this year). Read more about the decision here.

The Ozarks Chapter of FFRF has been busy the last month, as both the Bentonville & Fayetteville Farmer's Markets are in full swing. Our group represented in a BIG way on April 26th at the Fayetteville Farmers market, bringing out nearly a dozen FFRF members. Well done!

In Bentonville, despite new restrictions on information tables, we made our grand entrance on May 10th with our new advertising backpacks. We always enjoy speaking with market attendees, and having civil discussions and listening to the differing viewpoints on the Establishment Clause. These conversations are amicable and help find common ground which we can build towards as a community. FFRF members who have participated agree the conversations are empowering and fulfilling, and gives a sense of genuinely making an impact.

Rounding out the calendar was our monthly meeting in Fayetteville, along with Ozark FFRF's speech to the Democratic Party of Benton County. The presentation highlighted the importance of separation between church & state, and touched on religious issues that captivated the audience. There was a lively conversation that followed showing how religion & politics are still very sensitive topics.
